Ducks Enjoy Winter On Our River Lagoon

Edgar Bissantz photographed the mallards and cinnamon teals, above, as they were feeding behind his house on the edge of the Carmel River lagoon which is a bird refuge. He says they have been out in great numbers all through the stormy weather of the past two weeks. Bissantz has been actively interested in photography "for a long time." He is a retired architect and a founding board member of Friends of Photography, the organization, headed by famed photographer Ansel Adams, which has asked for space at Sunset Center in which to maintain a creative photography center for exhibition of the work of great creative photographers of the United States and other countries.

WEATHER
The storm is gone and we should have a nice week end. 60% chance for good weather the rest of the week. Temperature lows to 40, highs to 65. N.W. winds 5-15 mph.

Thank You, Fred Farr

"Thank You, Fred," were the words beside an enormous photograph of Fred Farr, taken by Ansel Adams against a background of Monterey County's coastline, which dominated the exhibition hall at the Monterey County Fairgrounds last night. And the three words expressed why the hundreds of persons present had come to the Fred Farr Fiesta—each and every one brought with them deep appreciation for the work Fred Farr had done for Monterey County, also the State of California, during his 12 years as a state senator.

Representatives of communities enclosed by the length and breadth of the county paid tribute to the legislator who had so well represented them in Sacramento. Among these was Mayor Stephen Grant of Carmel, representing Fred Farr's home town. He expressed for all Carmel citizens what they had in the hearts. His message follows:

Fred, we Carmelites are proud of you and salute you. You love trees, so do we. You love the meeting of sea and sand, so do we. You love natural beauty, we do, too. You are for clean air, clean soil, clean water, so are we.

But while we have been busy with these things in our "less than one square mile" you have been carrying these banners in far-off places. A crusader on a white horse, so to speak, you have been an alter ego to each of us.

Warm hearted, successful, sincere, hardworking, courageous, you are a living-great among us.

Thus, what we inwardly feel and have felt, we outwardly express in your time of happiness.

We are proud of you and salute you!

Pianist Leon Fleisher, Symphony To Play Music Of 20th Century

The Monterey County Symphony Orchestra under the direction of John Gosling returns to the stage of Sunset Center auditorium on February 14, 8:30 p.m., for its third concert of the season.

The Valentine's Day program concentrates on 20th century compositions, and has the added attraction of one of America's most outstanding pianists—Leon Fleisher.

The Edwardian era of British music is represented by Edward Elgar's "Serenade for Strings, Op. 20," featuring the string section of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra.

The scene switches to Italy for "The Pines of Rome" by Respighi. Written in 1924, the symphonic poem uses nature as a point of departure in order to recall memories and visions. As noted by the composer, "The century-old trees which dominate so characteristically the Roman landscape become testimony for the principal events in Roman life."

Ravel's "Concerto for the Left Hand Alone" rounds out the evening's program. Premiered in Paris in 1933, the piece has an unusual jazz section as part of its appeal to provide an interesting showcase for Leon Fleisher's talents at the keyboard.

Ticket information can be obtained at the Monterey County Symphony Association office at Sunset Center, by writing P. O. Box 3851, Carmel, or calling 624-4125.

High Twelve Club Talk On Yosemite

Members of Carmel High Twelve saw and heard "The Concatenation of Yosemite" at their Monday luncheon at the Cypress Club, when Ranger Naturalist Sterling D. Mummert explained, with aid of color slides, the chain of natural events which formed the grandeur of Yosemite Gorge. Starting with geologic studies, the lecture continued with coverage of sequoia trees, views from Sierra Point, Mount Hoffman, and other key points of Yosemite Valley and Upland Park areas. Only half of the significant phases were shown at Monday's meeting; another talk is to be given some time in April.

Of special interest was a series of slides taken by Mummert depicting the Pohono, the name Indians gave their version of the winds that cause Bridal Veil Falls to disappear during late summer low flows over the cliff. According to some experts on Yosemite lore, these are among the few slides showing a full Pohono. A photo of Pohono Lodge near the old chapel was of special speculative significance to the members.

Also spotlighted was an explanation of a restoration of the chapel exterior and interior after the old building of 1878 was weakened by ravages of time, plus floods, in 1958 and other years. Examples of good masonry placed under this old structure and the covered bridge at Wawona received added comments from the speaker.

Taxpayers Group Names Officers, Makes Proposals

Ten directors were elected to the 22-member board of the Monterey Peninsula Taxpayers Association at its annual membership meeting on January 24.

Harold Arnot, president of the association, announced at the meeting, held in the Community Room of the Monarch Pines Trailer Park, that the new directors are H. T. Allen of Monterey; Bud Hellam of Seaside; Tom Bunn and Chester Gillette of Pebble Beach; B. D. Butler, Bud Giles, and W. D. Mead of Pacific Grove; and Dan J. Daly, Maj. Gen. James H. Phillips and Helen Roark of Carmel. The directors, elected by mailed ballots, will serve a term of three years.

The growing problem of overspending in public education was the main topic at the meeting and several points were brought out. President Arnot presented the association's seven-point program for controlling costs and property taxes, recently sent to the legislators in Sacramento. Other members raised questions about the apparent inability of the educational system at both the state and local level to live within normal growth increases in tax revenue from established sources as do most other governmental agencies. They stated that any suggestion to reduce school spending seems to be immediately met with a storm of well-organized protest that such a move would surely "hurt the children" or "lower the quality of education." The consensus of the meeting appeared to be that every effort should be made to encourage school authorities to plan their operations to fit within normal growth revenue increases, rather than coming back regularly for more tax rises.

The following proposals to reduce and equalize the money spent per pupil for education, to control the property tax and to assure continued local school board control were adopted by the board of directors of the association on September 7, 1966.

(1) Establish a maximum cost per pupil for the education of elementary, junior high, and high school students that would be uniform throughout the state (subject to change by the state legislature as conditions warrant).

(2) Regardless of assessed valuation per pupil, establish a maximum property tax rate for schools on a statewide basis (subject to change by the state legislature, eliminating local override elections) and establish a maximum and uniform percent of the total cost per student that is to be paid from the property tax.

(3) The difference between the funds collected from the property tax as set forth above and the established cost per pupil would be paid from state funds to the county administrative officer who will be responsible for certification and distribution of funds to the school districts on the basis of students enrolled.

(4) Local school boards would have complete control and responsibility for the school district meeting established state standards of education within the uniform cost per pupil. This will require mature school board members with administrative experience.

(5) Provide for a school "building" fee on all new homes constructed within the boundaries of a school district to build up a reserve for new school building programs as they become necessary. Retirement communities that do not allow children would be exempt.

(6) Limit the support of the property tax, as outlined above, to the local school level, K-12 inclusive. Junior colleges should be part of the state university system.

(7) If a community desires to extend the quality of education beyond that supported by the set cost per student, it should establish a local educational trust fund, supported by private donations and administered by the school district.

Jean Claude Drouot and Marie-France Boyer are illicit lovers in "Le Bonheur" (Happiness) prize winning French film in color. "Le Bonheur" was directed by France's most celebrated woman director, Agnes Varda. It is now at Carmel's Villiage Theatre.

Mystery-Comedy Opens At Studio

When the new mystery-comedy "Catch Me If You Can" opens at the Studio Theatre-Restaurant tomorrow, the part of Inspector Levine will be played by Bob Lotz who appeared as Ben Hubbard in "The Little Foxes" a few months ago. His earlier experience includes motion pictures and television, and the Santa Monica Little Theatre named him its best young comedy actor.

Jim Jordan, a teacher at Pacific Grove Junior High School, plays Daniel Corban whose wife's alleged disappearance triggers the plot of "Catch Me If You Can." Jordan has been active in Monterey's First Theatre in such vehicles as "The Fatal Wedding," "After Dark" and "Philomel." Mrs. Jordan serves as stage manager for the forthcoming production.

The role of Elizabeth, who may or may not be Corban's missing wife, is in the hands of Carolyn Evans, last seen as Gladys in the Studio production of "The Pajama Game." A college drama major, Mrs. Evans has been in radio and television for ten years, both as performer and behind the scenes.

James Lancina, also a teacher at Pacific Grove Junior High School, makes his stage debut as Kelleher whose corroboration of Elizabeth's story undermines Corban's denial.

Neil Kaye who appears as Sidney, a delicatessen owner, acted extensively in the New York City area in college, community theatre and stock company productions. His previous credits include "West Side Story," "Oklahoma," Once Upon "A Mattress," "Carousel," "Brigadoon" and "Auntie Mame," among others.

Under the direction of Michael Keller, "Catch Me If You Can" will run at the Studio for the next six weekends. Reservations for dinner and show, or show only, may be made at 624-1661 or 624-2321.

SIX FILE FOR SCHOOL BOARD

Six candidates have filed for election on April 18 to three vacancies on the board of education of the Carmel Unified School District. Two incumbents, Dr. Hilton Bialek and Steven Sasoon are seeking re-election. Other candidates are Dorothy Woodward Jones, Carmel housewife, Richard T. Windon and Thomas M. Moore Jr., both attorneys, also Mrs. Agnes Martineau of Carmel, who teaches in Castroville.

LINES FROM THE STUDIO

So mystifying is the outcome of "Catch Me If You Can," so impenetrable its maze of clues and counterclues, so diabolically clever the ultimate unraveling of the web of deception, so utterly astonishing the double surprise revealed in the final moments, that we urge, nay implore, all who attend, no matter how overpowering the temptation, not to reveal who actually did what to whom in this suspenseful, electrifying tale of murder and mayhem, subject to the reservation that two or more people who have already seen it may under bond of secrecy commune together on the ingenuity of the plot and the void in the lives of those who have not yet been so fortunate. Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights; dinner and show $5.50, show alone $2.75.

Carmel Library Is In SEARCH Project

Expanded refererfce information is available now through five public libraries which have combined to form the Monterey Bay Area Information Service Project, to share library reference materials and services. The federally funded program is titled SEARCH. Participating are Carmel's Harrison Memorial Library, Monterey City, Monterey County, Pacific Grove and Salinas libraries.

The area project recently received a two-year $47,850 grant under the national Library Services and Construction Act. The Monterey Public Library is established as a central collection point for some of the reference materials available through the project. The public will have access to the expanded information through their local libraries.

HEART FUND BENEFIT PARTY SUNDAY

Mrs. Mark Raggett of Pebble Beach, a first place winner in last year's Heart Fund hors d'oeuvres contest, adds a special touch to the culinary surprise Ted Huntington of Pebble Beach is preparing for this year's contest, part of the Heart Fund benefit cocktail party with an Italian accent—Grand Prix Culinaire, Cucina Italinana —to be held on Sunday, 5:30-7 p.m. at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club. Mrs. Raggett's gondolier-type straw hat with ribbons is the type hostesses at the party will wear. Tickets ($7.50) may be obtained in Carmel at Cypress West Hotel, La Playa Hotel, Lobos Lodge, Normandy Inn and Pine Inn, also at Highlands Inn, Del Monte Lodge and the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club. The hors d-oeuvres contest is open to amateur and professional chefs. Further information may be obtained by telephoning Miss Barbara Burdick (375-3465).

Noted Architect And Planner To Speak At Asilomar Conference

William L. Pereira, well-known planner and architect, will be the keynote speaker at the sixth annual Monterey County Planning Council conference to be held at the Asilomar Conference Grounds on February 11. Pereira, who was recently commissioned to master plan the expansion of the Los Angeles International Airport to its ultimate capacity, will be discussing "Planning and the Air Age." He speaks with many years of experience in the aerospace field having planned Cape Kennedy, many air force bases throughout the western United States, and the U.S. naval and air force bases in Spain.

Pereira, who was recently recognized by President Johnson in appointing him to the National Council on Arts, and featured in a cover story in 1963 by Time magazine, has been actively engaged in planning and architecture since 1931. Among the buildings which he and his associates have designed are such well-known landmarks as Marineland of the Pacific and the new Los Angeles County Museum of Art. Pereira has master planned the campuses of the University of Southern California, Occidental College and the huge new University of California, Irvine, which opened in the fall of 1965.

All those interested in city and county planning are invited to attend the all-day conference. Further information and reservations may be obtained by phoning Salinas 424-8611, extension 304, or writing to P. O. Box 1208, Salinas. The cost of registration is $3.00, which includes lunch at the conference grounds.

Grunsky Holds Key State Senate Jobs

State Senator Donald L. Grunsky (R-Watsonville), who represents Monterey County, has been reappointed chairman of the important Senate Judiciary Committee.

Grunsky's position, as the 5th-ranking senator in seniority with 20 years legislative service, resulted in his appointment to the powerful Senate Finance Committee, which has the responsibility of acting on the budget and all appropriation bills. Grunsky stated, "This appointment is of particular importance to my new four-county district due to the larger number of state education facilities, recreation, and other state projects in the Central Coast Counties whose budgets will be before this Committee."

Senator Grunsky was also reappointed as Chairman of the Joint Senate and Assembly Committee for Revision of the Penal Code, and as the single senate member of the Judicial Council which administers California's Court System under the chairmanship of the Chief Justice.

In addition, Grunsky was reappointed as a member of the Revenue and Taxation Committee and the Insurance and Financial Institution Committee. He is past chairman of both of these committess. He continues as a member of the Senate Education Committee and as vice-chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Higher Education.

REPORTS FROM RLS

By Chandler Meloy

SKI TEAM IS READY

Patience. That might well describe members of the Stevenson ski team as they hopefully watch the skies for just a bit of snow to assist them in their training program. But, snow or not, next week they take off for Lake Tahoe and Squaw Valley to face three other schools in the second annual "Ski Run" for Northern California Independent Schools.

The team has been working out daily in a special "non-snow" program developed by Head Coach Ed Brown. Exercises, special runs, and short lectures combined with movies have been the main training activities. Coach Brown also has been helping the boys pick equipment and select skis.

Last year the team competed in two meets, and will take on the same schools this year. They are San Rafael Military Academy, Flur du Luc School of Lake Tahoe and Menlo Prep School. Trophies and individual awards will be given to the first five in each event.

Boys showing the most promise include George Dyer, Howard Hickingbothon, David Dows, Mons Cedercreutz, Piere LaLande, George Saviers and Steve Gardner.

School Out, Too

The entire school will take its winter break this year during the next week. Some 60 boys and faculty will join the ski team at Squaw for a week of skiing, games and skating. Mr. and Mrs. Ricklefs will join the Brown family, Athletic Director Zury and six staff members in the week-long "action". Rather than the usual long weekend during ski season, Mr. Ricklefs felt that the accommodations would be better during the week, so school will let out Sunday morning (with class on Saturday) and return the following Friday, with class on Saturday, February 11.

Vespers Program Exciting

Last Sunday, the Vespers program was on the subject of Viet Nam. Dr. Stanley Monteith of Santa Cruz spoke on "A Birch Society Member looks at Viet Nam". Previously we have heard from Chaplain Deese of Fort Ord who told of the experiences he had overseas. On February 12, Robert Scheer, managing editor of "Ramparts" magazine will speak on the war. He will be followed on February 19 with a reporter's view by Colonel Allen Griffin of the Monterey Herald. All programs are open to the public, of course, and are part of the long standing policy of the school to explore every avenue of our world as time permits.

Speech Team Honored

The Forensic and Debate team of RLS has been honored by being invited to compete in the Claremont Men's College High School Speech Tournament on February 10-11. Stevenson will be one of only 60 schools in California so invited. Attending with the debate team will be Robert Howard and Joe Arsenio, and Team Captains Smith Dungan and Bill Atkins. Individual events will be represented by Lonnie Foy and Jim Russell in Dramatic, Smith Dungan and Don Stillwell in Oratory, and Bill Atkins and Joe Arsenio in Extemp speaking.

Leadership Conference

Eighteen of the top prep schools in California have already accepted the invitation of student President Larry Kuechler to attend the first "Independent Schools Student Leadership Conference" to be hosted and held at Stevenson on the weekend of February 17. Discussions, featured speakers and films will be part of the program, followed by a school dance. This is the first program of its kind in California, and Conference Chairman Will Haas predicts that it will "show the quality of leadership we have at Stevenson".

FORMER PRIME MINISTER TO SPEAK AT MPC

Sir Alec Douglas-Home, Prime Minister of Great Britain, 1963-64, will speak on "Democracy: Is It Worth It?" on February 11 at Monterey Peninsula College. The talk will be at 8 p.m. in the Armory and is free to the public.

AUDUBON CLUB MEETS FEBRUARY 10

C. Edward Graves will give an illustrated talk on Mt. McKinley National Park in Alaska for members of the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society on February 11 at 8 p.m. in the music room at Carmel High School.

On Password Program

Those who were watching the national television show, Password, last week were delighted to see Peregrine Whittlesey, niece of Eben Whittlesey of Carmel, on the program. Peregrine, a graduate of Scripps College, is now living in New York. Although she did not win any money playing the word game, her delightful personality and charming looks did much to brighten the program.

New Craft Group

Mrs. Grant Martin of Carmel, who designed and cast the gold and bronze medallions which were given to Bing Crosby and important officials of the Crosby Tournament, has been busy forming a group of craftsmen under the name of Meta Arts of Carmel. This group hopes to give artists in the area an opportunity to have worthwhile sculptures cast in bronze. Mrs. Martin will resume her work on a sculpture to be done in honor of the late Walt Disney now that all the excitement of the Crosby is over for another year.

Mother Goose Benefit

Mrs. H. R. Fonseca co-owner with her husband "Hank" of the Jade Tree Inn, held a remodeling sale at the inn on Sunday. All proceeds of the sale will go to the Mother Goose Chapter of the Children's Home Society. The society is celebrating its 75th anniversary this year.

Mrs. Fonseca was the chairman of the group's fund-raising benefit at which rugs, draperies, bedspreads and furniture were sold. Mrs. Lamaya Isenberger is the president of the group. The affair was declared a great success.

Foster Family News

Friends of Malcolm Foster will be glad to know that he is now at home after suffering a heart attack last month. "I'm really enjoying the rest," Malcolm stated. His wife, Lucy, is home from Stanford where she was attending school to be with her husband while he convalesces.

Other news from the Fosters includes a letter from son James ("Joey"), a 1960 graduate of Carmel High School and a 1965 graduate of Amherst College, who is in his second year with the Peace Corps in Nigeria. Joey is teaching physics at Ibaban Government University and wrote to tell his parents about the vacation he is taking with 30 other Peace Corps members in Morocco. "Just loves it" said his happy father.

"On to Alaska!" was the cry of the Fosters' second son, Peter, who left for that state early last week. Peter, who was a 1962 graduate of Carmel High School, hopes to find work as a surveyor with a lumber company near Ketchikan, Alaska, and do a little prospecting on the side.

Plan MPVS Tour

Plans are progressing for the 14th annual House and Garden Tour which is to be presented on April 19th by the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services.

A meeting was held last week at the home of Mrs. S. Y. Cutler of Carmel, who has been selected as garden tour chairman. Also attending were Mrs. Howard Healey, president of MPVS; Mrs. Archer Allen, co-chairman of the tour; and Mrs. J. Arthur Weeks who is in charge of publicity. These members will act as a steering committee and in an advisory capacity for other chairmen who will be introduced at the general meeting of the group to be held at the U.S.O. tomorrow.

All Going To College

Mrs. Audrey Tetley of Carmel has not been seeing very much of her two children as of late. Jane, a graduate of Santa Catalina School for Girls and San Jose State College, is now attending the latter school to obtain her secondary degree in teaching which she will receive in June. Jane is living in San Jose where her husband, Dennis Escola, works for I.B.M.

Mrs. Tetley's son Richard, a graduate of Carmel High School and the University of Oregon, who is married to the former Michele Mason of Portland, Oregon, is now attending the University of Michigan where he is working on his Ph.D.

Not to be outdone by her two children, Mrs. Tetley has been attending Monterey Peninsula College this past semester and for the past few weeks has been "up to her ears" with finals.

Drill Team Member

Seaman James B. Groark, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Groark of Aspen Place, is a member of the U. S. Naval Construction Battalion Eight's newly formed drill team at San Francisco.

Jim, who is a graduate of Carmel High School and also attended Monterey Peninsula College, was part of the team that was invited to participate in the Santa Barbara Veterans Day parade and at a San Diego Charger game in Balboa Stadium in San Diego.

On Stage Committee

Leon Fletcher, coordinator of instructional services at Monterey Peninsula College, has been named as the sole junior college representative on a 12-man team of the State Committee on Public Education. Mr. Fletcher, who lives in Pebble Beach, will assist in preparing a series of statements identifying problems of education in California.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN CONVENE

The first quarterly meeting of the California Federation of Republican Women, Northern Division, will be held at the Mark Thomas Inn on February 9 and 10.

The afternoon program on February 9 will be a work shop on regional planning and the speaker will be Mrs. Eugenia Kagy.

Dinner that evening will be at 7:00 and the speaker will be James W. Halley, chairman of the California Republican State Central Committee.

On February 10, there will be a coffee hour at 8:30 a.m., a business meeting at 9:30 and a luncheon at 12:30.

Mrs. Donald P. Klotz, state president of the California Federation of Republican Women, will be the luncheon speaker.

Any additional information may be obtained by telephoning Miss Margaret Stuart (372-8447).

SYMPHONY GUILD THEATRE PARTY

On Tuesday, the Peninsula chapter of the Monterey County Symphony Guild will hold a theatre party at 1:30 p.m. in Carmel's Village Theatre. Above left, is Mrs. James Moore who is in charge of the sale of tickets ($2.50) for the event. Next to her is Mrs. Jack Stein who will model paper dresses in "Parade of Paper Dollies." At right is Mrs. Robert Mackay Brown, theatre party chairman. On her committee are Mrs. Philip C. Smith, Mrs. Cecil H. Barker, Mrs. Carl E. Menneken, Mrs. Roderick Dewar, and Mrs. Archer M. Allen. A movie, "The Villa Fiorita," will be shown at the affair and Conductor John Gosling will preview music on the February 14 Monterey County Symphony program. There will be door prizes and favors. Tickets may be obtained at California Music House or by telephoning Mrs. Moore (624-1183).

Five Months In Mexico

Friends of the Robert Hinwoods of Carmel will be glad to know that the entire family is back in town after a five-month sabbatical in Mexico. Mr. Hinwood, who is an instructor of English at Monterey Peninsula College, wrote a full record of all the events of the entire trip including handy phrases in Spanish, where to eat, what to see and where to go to get away from all the other American tourists.

Mrs. Hinwood (Louann) who spent much of her childhood in Mexico, says that both the Hinwood boys, Dick who is 13 and Jim who is 15, worked very hard to get ready for the trip by attending summer school here so that they would not be too far behind when they got back. Both of them loved Mexico and Jim wants to return when he is 18 to "really get to know the country."

The Hinwoods are telling everyone they know not to miss the new museum of anthropology in Mexico City. The museum building itself is one of the most beautiful examples of the new Mexican architecture as is the Mexican Museum of the Revolution which is circular and where one walks downwards the entire time to the bottom room where the Mexican Constitution is housed. Both these museums are well worth several days of study, the Hinwoods said.

The only drawback to Mexico City was the terrible black smog that covers the entire area, says Louann. This she reports comes from the amount of industry in the area and the low grade of gasoline which is used in all the cars. Another tip for people planning to go to Mexico City is the wonderful taxi service, the Hinwoods stated.

Much traveling was done by the whole family. They used the central route of Mexico covering such towns as Guanajuato "the most romantic town we have ever been to" Jalpa, Santa Topax and Parral.

The Hinwoods gave a going away party for the Robert Nelsons last Friday night in advance of their leaving for Mexico. Chiliquiles, "the best thing to eat all over Mexico," was the main dish, states Louann.

Born At Community Hospital

Victoria Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Lambert, was welcomed into the family on January 20 by her happy parents and her sister, Brenda, who is six. Victoria's maternal grandmother is Mrs. Alice B. Burton of Carmel and her paternal grandparents are the Michael Lamberts of San Diego. David is a student of history at the Monterey Institute of Foreign Languages.

Mr. and Mrs. John Crivello of Pebble Beach are delighted to announce the birth of their first child, Christina Maria, on January 24. Proud grandparents of Christina are the Herb Rabes of San Bernardino. Her father is the manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of Monterey.

CARMEL FOUNDATION
Town House

On February 16 at 1:30 and 2:30 p.m. at Town House there will be a music appreciation program conducted by Fred Schaad and Anne Welchner.

The physical fitness class will be held on Tuesday at 10 a.m. Mrs. Bea Wayland is the instructor.

CARMEL VALLEY MANOR

Engravings by a British artist, Prideaux John Selby, will be on exhibit at Carmel Valley Manor during the month of February.

Selby was a contemporary of naturalist-artist John James Audubon. His bird prints of British land and water birds were published in London, Dublin and Edinburgh, but were not widely distributed in the Western Hemisphere. All the plates reproduce subjects in life size and hand-coloring is faithful to nature.

HACIENDA CARMEL

A. Kenneth Fuller, division manager, Cal.-American Water Company was the guest speaker at the January 18 Casa Lobos Luncheon at Hacienda Carmel. His interesting talk outlined the scope of his company's operations in this area and touched on some of the company's problems of the present and the foreseeable future. A question and answer session brought up many points of special interest to Hacienda Carmel residents. Richard Baumhoff, president of the Casa Lobos Club, announces that the next Casa Lobos Luncheon will be tied in with an all-day bus trip and visit to the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center in Palo Alto on February 16.

CANTERBURY WOODS

Accreditation—"like sterling on silver" . . . the glow at Canterbury Woods retirement residence in Pacific Grove upon receiving the certificate of accreditation by the Joint Commission on Accreditations of Hospitals. It is the symbol and guarantee that the residents are assured of a well-run, well equipped and well-staffed hospital. It is with pride we announce the accreditation. There is no law or regulation that requires the accreditation, it is a voluntary decision, but ever alert to the quality of services and needs of the residents, the certificate was sought and granted, thus assuring them, their families and the community that the welfare of every patient is entrusted to competent dedicated hands.

FOREST HILL MANOR

Programs for the month of February are as follows:

February 2 at 7 p.m. in the Lounge a program showing slides of the Peace Corps in Turkey by Miss Angela Costanza who taught the children of Turkey in a physical education program. She was occupied in this work from September 1964 until August 1966.

On February 9, Mrs. Helen Gapen Oehler, local artist, will show her own slides and give a commentary on "Dakar to Arabia, by Way of Timbuktu." This will be a most interesting program by this well known artist and photographer.

February 16 is reserved for a popular movie.

February 23 will be an evening looked forward to by the residents. It is Game Night . . . and provides an evening of fun and enjoyment for everyone.

PINPOINT PROFILES
David H. Walker

David Walker, former newspaperman, as was his father before him, sat with his photograph album on the table at Carmel Valley Manor and told us of the many places in far off lands he has visited. After talking to David a short time, we discovered he never "stays put" in one place for any length of time. He is a world traveler in every sense of the word; comes by it naturally. At one time his grandfather sailed in clipper ships and later as captain of whaling vessels.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID HENRY WALKER

Imogene Walker, David's wife, inherited the desire to travel from her parents who took her as a tiny baby of a few months to live in Hilo, Hawaii. She can boast of crossing the ocean several times in sailing vessels. These two people make a wonderful pair because, wherever they travelled, David would take the pictures and Imogene would write the narrative. As a result, they produced several volumes describing and illustrating their travels all over the world which they have given to their children.

Some of the places will ever be fresh in their memories. The Taj Mahal in India, for instance. They both spoke of its shimmering beauty and declared it to be the most beautiful creation made by man in the world.

In Japan, their visit to the Dai Butzo was another experience of unusual beauty they will never forget.

Imogene recalls attending a service in a little Swiss church in Zurich on Easter Sunday morning. She was entranced with the spirited singing of the congregation and the trumpeters in the balcony playing brass instruments.

In 1955, the Walkers boarded the SS President Polk for a trip around the world. Christmas was celebrated in Rome that year.

In Milan one evening, David tells of having to give three tips in order to get out of a restaurant. As usual he tipped the waiter who served dinner—then he tipped the man who brought him his coat. At this point David remembered he had a hat—so his hat was brought to him by a small boy. Of course he received a tip, too.

In Sorrento, Italy, after a pleasant stay at the Excelsior Grand Hotel Vittoria, everyone came out, on the morning of their departure, to help David pack his car, just as one's family would do at home.

One afternoon, from his office window in San Francisco, David saw a ship coming into the harbor. He telephoned Matson Navigation and asked about the ship and when it would be sailing again. That night he announced to Imogene, "We have been landlubbers long enough. I have two reservations on the Matson ship sailing for Hawaii on Wednesday."

Imogene is quite used to these impulsive outbreaks. "All we have to do is throw some clothes and our toothbrushes in a suitcase—and off we go," she, who has also been smitten by the travelling "bug," declared.

Now I understand plans are under way for another jaunt, this time to Sicily and Italy. . . . "Bon Voyage, Mes Amis!"

De La Mesa Carmel Model Homes Open

Three furnished model residences are now open at De La Mesa Carmel, $10 million adult community in Carmel Valley, being developed by Carmel-Hawaii Investors, Inc.

The opening of furnished models of three plan types is part of the first phase of development of 150 residences and Club Mesa, a dramatic, 15,000 square foot community center with restaurant, library, lounge, meeting rooms, and men's and women's club facilities. Other amenities will include an art and crafts center, an enclosed swimming pool, and putting and bowling greens. When completed, the community will have 289 residences of 12 plan types.

Each of the model homes now open, created by project designer Fred E. Brooks, has a cedar shake roof with deep overhangs and a richly-textured pyramid profile; rough-sawn redwood siding; and entrance stonework. The extraordinary interior designs include raised, sloping, or beamed ceilings; optional stone, brick, or marble fireplaces, and redwood, oak or walnut wall paneling.

Kitchens are all-electric with built-in oven range units, dishwashers and disposals; ash cabinets and built-in, four-door pantries with pivoting shelves.

Under the condominium principle, residents own title to their home and share jointly in the ownership of grounds and the community facilities.

The De La Mesa Carmel sales office is open at the site, from 10 a.m. to dusk, seven days a week. It is located two miles east of Highway One on Carmel Valley Road. Appointments may be arranged by calling Donald McLean at 624-8776 or 624-2732.

MARRIED ON SUNDAY

Escorted to the altar by her father, Charles R. Walker of Carmel Valley, Carol wore a long, empire styled gown of white brocade and her French illusion elbow-length veil was held in place by a pearl-tipped crown with a small Dior rose. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis with a white orchid corsage in the center.

Carol's matron of honor was Mrs. Douglas Jensen of Point Sur who wore a floor length gown of deep rose pink brocade and the bridesmaid, Mrs. David C. Walker, sister-in-law of the bride, wore a long brocade dress in the same color. The flower girl, Gladys Zarazua, who is the niece of the bridegroom, wore a short pink brocade frock.

Rod de Leon, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man and seating the guests were David C. Walker of Chico, who is the brother of the bride, John Lunday of Seaside and David Horsburgh of Pacific Grove.

Following the ceremony, the bridal party welcomed family and friends at the Fellowship Hall of the church. The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Angel de Leon of Carmel Valley, and Mrs. Lola B. Walker of Redding, California, grandmother of the bride, took leave of the young couple after the reception as they departed for a honeymoon to an undisclosed destination.

Both Hector and his bride graduated from Carmel High School and attended Monterey Peninsula College. They are now making their home in Sacramento where Hector will be working towards a degree in business administration while Carol, who received her B.A. from San Francisco State College last June, will be working for the Sacramento County Welfare Department as a social worker.

In All-State Choir

John Tannehill of Pebble Beach, who attends New Mexico Military Institute, was selected to sing last week in New Mexico's all-state music festival in Albuquerque as a member of the all-state choir. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Tannehill.

Zoellins Return

The Dick Zoellins, tanned by tropic sunshine in Mexico, are back in Carmel somewhat chagrined with the weather their home town has been offering since their return. They drove to Guadalajara, which was drenched with unseasonal rainfall for the first part of their stay, then when skies were clear again flew to Puerto Vallarta for a delightful three-day visit in this coastal community. Further explorations by car in the vicinity of Mexico City, but not in the capital itself, were included in their trip.

In Honor Band

Seven Carmel High School students played in the Tri-County Honor Band concert at Cabrillo College in Santa Cruz on Saturday. The 130-piece-band was conducted by Dr. John Carico, band director at the University of Nevada in Reno. The Carmel players were Greg Stegeman, Greg Sprung, Dale Bishop, Jeff Zimmerman, Susie Lang, Jim Rutledge and Roger Chilson.

PHYLLIS CLAYTON ENGAGED

There will be a February 25 wedding in All Saints' Church for Phyllis Clayton of Carmel and Albert Morris Liston who is just through with his military service as a supply officer aboard the USS Coral Sea.

Phyllis, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Clayton of Carmel, was a 1960 graduate of Carmel High School where she was a cheerleader for two years as well as the secretary of Leaders Club and a Junior Prom Queen attendant. She attended the University of California at Davis where she received her A.B. in anthropology, also her elementary teaching credential. While at Davis, Phyllis was the Homecoming Queen in 1962, the secretary for the Rally Club. She spent two years teaching the fifth grade at Beal Air Force Base in northern California and last September took off for a trip around the world with a college friend. She just returned from three months skiing in Germany in time to announce her engagement.

Albert, who is the son of Mrs. Hazal Porter of Phoenix, Arizona, is also a graduate of the University of California at Davis where he was a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity and an avid skier. He obtained a degree in economics in 1963.

Phyllis' bridal party will include Julie Eghoian, a college friend, as maid of honor, and, as bridesmaids, Linda Koehler, her around the world companion; and Mrs. Doyle Clayton, the former Susan Segali and the bride's sister-in-law.

The reception after the service will take place at the Highlands Inn.

AAUW Adds Colleges To Its Eligibility List

Local graduates of a new group of colleges and universities are now eligible for membership in the American Association of University Women, according to Mrs. Allan Craig, membership chairman of the Monterey Peninsula AAUW branch. Announcement has been made from the national office of the association that, by action of the AAUW board of directors, these institutions have been recognized.

They are Athens College, Athens, Alabama; Bethune-Cookman College, Daytona Beach, Florida; California Lutheran College, Thousand Oaks, California; Cheyney State College, Cheyney, Pennsylvania; Clark College, Atlanta, Georgia; Cumberland College, Williamsburg, Kentucky; Detroit Institute of Technology, Detroit, Michigan; Findlay College, Findlay, Ohio; Harvey Mudd College, Claremont, California; Huston-Tillotson College, Austin, Texas; Le Moyne College, Memphis, Tennessee; Madonna College, Livonia, Michigan; Pace College, New York City; Presbyterian School of Christian Education, Richmond, Virginia; Saint Peter's College, Jersey City, New Jersey; School of the Art Institute, Chicago, Illinois; Texas A & M University, College Station, Texas; Texas Southern University, Houston, Texas; and West Georgia College, Carrollton, Georgia.

The above additions bring the total number of qualified colleges and universities on the AAUW list to 971. The American Association of University Women numbers some 171,000 graduates of these institutions, in 1,599 branches throughout the country. Miss Gertrude Rendtorff of Carmel is president of the local branch.

Women who are qualified for AAUW membership are invited to call Mrs. Allan Craig, (372-0733) for further information.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS TO HEAR AFRICAN DIPLOMAT

John Mills, consul general of South Africa, will speak on "South Africa—Fact and Fiction" at an Italian-style dinner sponsored by Monterey County Young Republicans. The meeting will be held at American Legion Hall No. 31 in Salinas on February 9, at 7 p.m.

Consul General Mills has been a member of the South African Foreign Service since 1946 and, prior to his assignment to San Francisco in 1962, has represented South Africa in England, Spain, and Italy. He has published a novel entitled "Waiting for the Sunrise," based on his wartime experiences in North Africa and as an Italian prisoner-of-war.

The public is invited to attend the dinner and tickets are available by telephoning 372-3452.

DUO PIANISTS IN TUESDAY CONCERT

Jeffry and Ronald Marlow, duo-pianists, will be presented by the Monterey Peninsula Concert Association on Tuesday evening at 8:15 p.m. in Pacific Grove Junior High School auditorium. This program is the fourth in the concert series presented by the association. Attendance is limited to association members on a space available basis.

Council To Consider Annexation Protests

On Wednesday evening, the city council will consider written protests to the annexation to Carmel of the northeast section of the Mission Tract bounded by Santa Lucia and Dolores streets, Rio Road and the southern boundary of lots fronting on Franciscan Way. The hearing will be held during the February meeting of the council which starts at 8 p.m.

If the land of protesting property owners does not equal one-half of the value of the territory requesting annexation, the council will proceed with a special annexation election on April 18.

NEW PROPERTY ASSESSMENT LAW

Forty-three assessors out of 54 counties reporting have chosen to assess property at 25% of its market value, a State Board of Equalization member announced today.

Under the new assessment reform law, all county assessors are required to announce this percentage, or ratio, between 20 and 25% this year, SBE member George Reilly said.

Under the new law, assessors each year may choose any percentage of market value between 20 and 25 percent until 1971.

WORLD AFFAIRS COUNCIL

On Wednesday evening at 6:45 p.m., members of the World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula will hold a dinner meeting at the Monterey Elks Club. Following the dinner, at 8 p.m., Virginia Drew will give an illustrated lecture on Russia where she spent three weeks in October.

PARTY PLANS . . .

By Phyllis Jervey

DINNER IN VENICE

There was that certain magic as we stepped into the make believe Piazza San Marco at the Mark Thomas Inn last week. The romantic atmosphere, complete with gondola and a mural of pink palazzi whose tiny lights twinkled realistically, was true escapism.

Gondoliers served smooth vermouth and camperi and other favorite Italian aperitifs, then we wandered over to the transformed dining area gaily accompanied by a strolling accordionist. The mood was set and we were ready for the antipasto to further intrigue our appetites. Chef Hillebrand had outdone himself to create an authentic Italian dinner, so without delay, Party Plans is giving you his menu and recipes exclusively reproduced for us.

DINNER IN VENICE
Antipasto
Minestrone with Breadsticks
Lasagna Rialto
Ossobuco alla Romana
Chianti Risotto Melenzane
Cassata Siciliana
Cappuccino
Torrone di Cremona
Italian liqueurs
Galliano, Strega, Tuaca

Antipasto

This typical Italian hors d'oeuvre can be very artistic with salad plates of mixed greens, sliced or cherry tomatoes, quartered hard-cooked eggs, finocchio or celery hearts, thin curls of salami, anchovies, tiny sardines, Porta Saluta cheese wedges, stuffed and ripe olives, pickled whole tiny beets, capers and hot red peppers. The classic dressing is vinegar and olive oil set out in cruets for each person to pour as desired. With this bountiful selection there was sliced Italian bread and sweet butter. A fine wine to sip along with these tasty tidbits is Soave or Prosecco. The latter is one of the famous wines of Venice and has been known for centuries. We gave an excellent recipe for minestrone in this January 12 issue of Party Plans, so the next course on the menu follows.

Lasagna Rialto
(Serves 4)

Half a lb. package broad lasagna noodles, ½ lb. cream cheese, ½ lb. Mozzarella cheese, small can tomato paste, 1 lb. ground beef, 1 onion, diced.

Slice lasagna into briskly boiling salted water; cook about 10 minutes until almost tender; drain and rinse with cold water; drain again. Now mix cream cheese with tomato paste. Braise ground beef with diced onion; place lasagna in casserole between cream cheese mixture, Mozzarella cheese, diced, and ground beef. Bake for 1 hour at 325 F. until golden brown.

Ossobuco alla Romana
(Serves 4)

Three lbs. veal or baby beef shank, 3 green onions, 6 peeled small fresh tomatoes, cubed, 1 lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced crosswise, salt, pepper, 1 cubed garlic clove, pinch of sweet basil and ½ cup flour.

Roast meat until ¾ done; bone it and slice into serving pieces. In bacon fat, braise the chopped onions, mushrooms and tomato with salt, pepper, garlic and sweet basil. Gradually stir in flour and add some veal or beef stock; cook until tender and a nice sauce is formed. Serve over steamed risotto (saffron rice).

Risotto
(Serves 4)

One cup long grain rice; 2 cups veal or chicken stock; pinch of powdered saffron; onion powder, salt and white pepper to taste; butter, minced parsely, Parmesan cheese.

Bring stock to boiling point, add rice and seasoning, cover and allow to simmer until liquid is absorbed and rice is tender. Add butter, parsley and grated Parmesan at serving; stir gently to mix.

Melenzane (Eggplant)
(Serves 4)

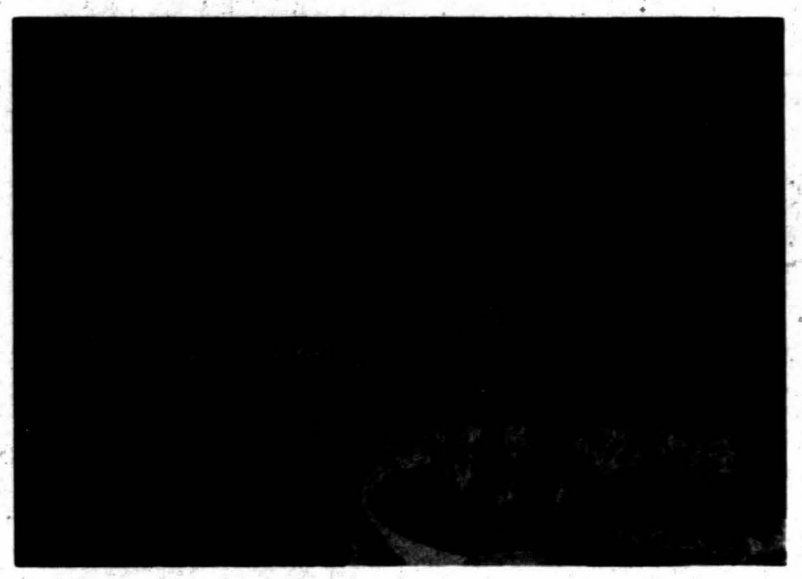
Slice 1 large eggplant (unpeeled) into ½ inch circles. Dip each slice into a batter made with a beaten egg and small amount of beer. French-fry each slice in deep boiling fat; drain on brown paper; season with salt and pepper and keep hot in oven until serving.

Cassata Siciliana
(Sicilian Ice Cream)

Two cups sugar, ½ cup water. 4 egg yolks, 1 qt. whipping cream, candied fruit, sliced almonds, creme de cacao liqueur. Boil sugar in water until it is spun, add beaten yolks and stir until cool. Add whipping cream, beat until stiff, adding egg and sugar; divide these, add to one part the candied sliced fruits and almonds and to the second part creme to cacao to taste (do not make liquid). Place 2 layers in square baking form, put overnight into freezer. Before serving, slice into individual portions. If this seems too complicated for home preparation, excellent spumoni or tutti frutti may be purchased commercially.

CAPPUCCINO

To make a delightful coffee drink, Italian style, serve cappuccino whose nutmeg color is reminiscent of the robes of Capuchin monks. Pour equal amounts of caffe espresso and very hot (but not boiled) milk simultaneously into tall after-dinner cups. Muddle each with cinnamon stick and top with freshly grated nutmeg. A real taste thrill and so soothing.'



'A NIGHT IN VENICE'

Jerry Winters, who entertains at Mark Thomas' Outrigger, and who "spark-plugged" the recent musicians' benefit for White Oaks Theatre, is seen enjoying the aperitivo hour at the "Night in Venice" dinner and entertainment presented by the Mark Thomas Inn on Monday. This was the latest in a series of popular International Nights given by the inn. Linda Dowdy, of the inn staff is costumed as an Italian girl of the countryside. "A Night in Japan" is planned for February 23.

Creamy almond torrone (nougat) comes in individual packets and will keep indefinitely if your sweet tooth has already been satisfied.

The Mark Thomas Threesome (the Inn, the Hearthstone and the Outrigger) love to dispense hospitality in the best of tradition. So last weekend, a "Robust Olde English House Party for the Benefit of California's Press" took place at these famous Peninsula rendezvous. We wish we had space to describe lunch with Eliot Loomis on Saturday at Carmel's Cricket-on-the-Hearthstone, liquid refreshments at the "goode olde Golden Lion Pub" at the inn, followed by a hearty English sit-down dinner, complete with syllabubs. Graeme Mackenzie was our most cordial host. Sunday morning was welcomed with much enthusiasm when Gordon Reid took over at the Outrigger on Cannery Row for a Polynesian Survival Brunch. How lucky can one get?

Beautification Forum Saturday

"Monterey Peninsula Beautiful" is the theme of the second annual beautification forum to be presented by the Monterey County Foundation for Conservation from noon to 4 p.m. on Saturday, Dudley Swim, foundation president, announces.

The Mural Room of Del Monte Lodge will be the setting for this year's new and expanded program which features local citizens and representatives of prominent seed companies.

Allen Griffin, president of the Monterey Peninsula Herald, will make the opening remarks for the program and set the theme.

George Uyeda of Watson's Nursery, one of the outstanding speakers last year, will make a presentation, "Spring Flowering Plants," and illustrate his talk with a plant exhibit.

Among the many more excellent presentations and colorful, informative exhibits on the program are those by James Wilson of the Ferry-Morse Seed Company, Gerald Burke of the W. Atlee Burpee Company, and Col. Ray Inman of Fort Ord.

Beauty-loving members of the community who are interested in attending the forum should telephone the foundation's secretary, Bayford D. Butler (624-6600) for reservations.

L'Alliance Francaise Talk By Noted Art Expert From France

Members and friends of l'Alliance Francaise of the Monterey Peninsula are looking forward to the conference of Georges Poisson, one of France's great art experts. Mr. Poisson also heads all the national museums of France. A noted writer on art he is curator of several French historical chateaux and lectures at two of France's great institutes of learning, l'Ecole des Arts Appliques and l'Ecole Normale Superieure d'Enseignement Technique.

On February 16 at 8 p.m., Poisson will lecture under the auspices of l'Alliance Francaise in the lecture hall of the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies, 425 Van Buren Street, Monterey. This distinguished visitor has chosen "Napoleon and Paris" as his subject for the Monterey conference. This will deal with monuments and other valuable esthetic assets acquired by Paris during the Napoleonic years. Non-members attending the lecture will be asked to make a small donation for the local French Scholarship Fund sponsored yearly by l'Alliance Francaise.

Preceding the lecture, a dinner will be held at the Casa Munras in Monterey at 6 p.m. in honor of the distinguished visitor. Reservations may be made by telephoning Mrs. Jerome Carlson (624-3195), Mrs. James Hathaway (372-1138) or Mrs. Russell Cadle (375-9242).

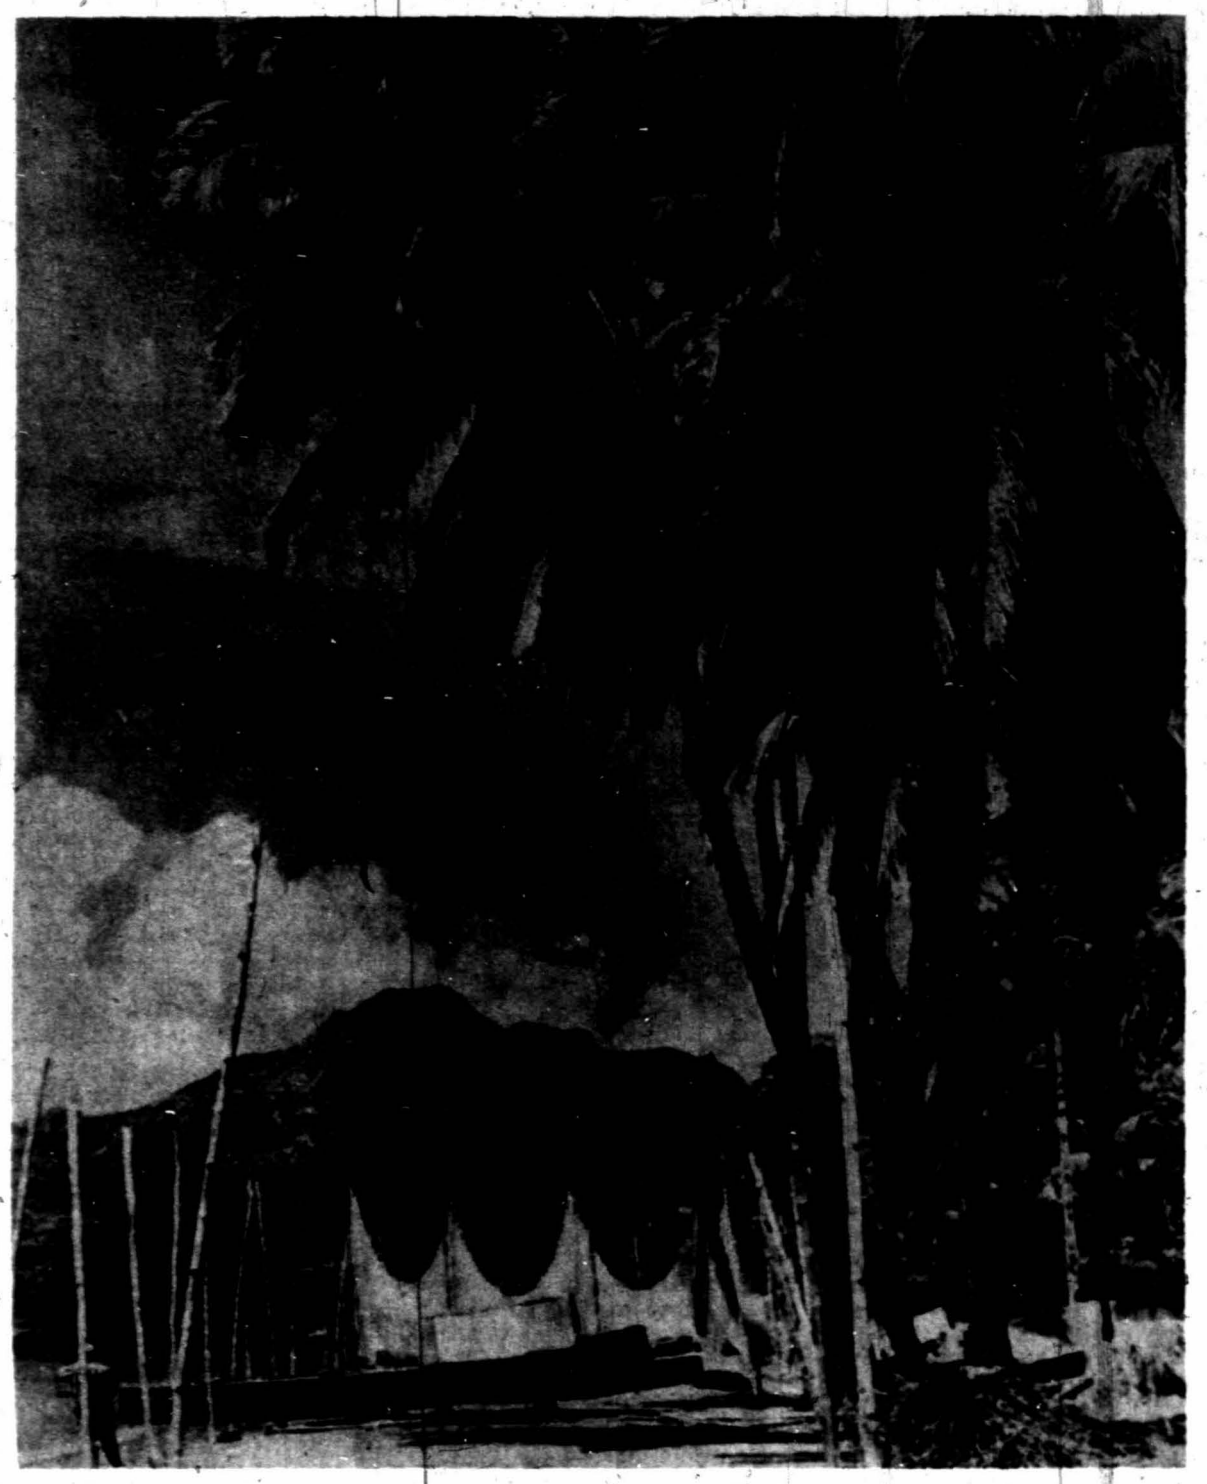
Travel Section



A strip of beach, a fringe of palms, and fishermen's nets drying in the sun, is a typical scene of the French Caribbean island of Guadeloupe.

Guadeloupe And Martinique Lure Travelers To Tropical Caribbean

The lush, inviting world of the Caribbean provides a balmy substitute for winter and offers such enchantment as Guadeloupe and Martinique—two sun drenched hideaways in the heart of the Caribbean Islands. Carmel travel agents are ready to help anyone enjoy a holiday on these inviting isles.

In the eastern arc of the West Indies lies Guadeloupe, an unspoiled, tropical introduction to the French West Indies. This rugged island of calm and beautiful anchorages, picturesque coves and archaic fishing villages is called the "Emerald of the Caribbean"—and for good reason. The south coast has some of the best sea swimming in the world. Brilliant, powder-smooth beaches surround a core of lush wooded mountains. The high hills roll down to meet the sea at palm-edged beaches. All hotels are ocean front and there is swimming in olympic-sized pools or the warm waters of a tropical lagoon—all year round.

Though it was a Spanish possession until the 17th century, Guadeloupe was never colonized by Spain, and it has been French since 1635. Both Guadeloupe and Martinique are departments of France and constitute part of the actual geographical area of France, as Hawaii is a state of the United States. French is the official language of the islands, and the franc is the official currency, but U.S. money is freely circulated in many places.

The blend of old and new worlds finds unique expression here in such things as the cuisine which is Parisian French and native creole. The fascinating manners of another day still presist on Guadeloupe.

MARTINIQUE

Described as "more French than France," Martinique is the largest of the small islands that comprise the French West Indies. Volcanic peaks and rugged shoreline coupled with lush tropical beauty make it ideal for swimming and all forms of exploring. The birthplace of Empress Josephine, Napoleon's wife, is on this island and Martinique ladies wear stately gowns inspired by Empire fashions.

In 1902, the fantastic eruption of Mt. Pelee destroyed, within a minute, the entire city of Saint-Pierre, whose ruins are often referred to as the "Pompeii of the New World."

Fort-de-France, the capital, has a wonderful native market and excellent French restaurants with fascinating menus and wine lists. One can lounge in the sun all day in preparation for dancing to myriad native bands in the evening.

OTHER ISLANDS

After enjoying Guadelupe and Martinique, a visit to other islands may be alluring.

Each Caribbean island is unique. Dress and costumes change, as the musical beat switches from calypso to beguine. Clipped British accents on Barbados and the sing-song slurring of Trinidad replace gay Guadeloupe patois. Here is a bit of Old England, there a corner of France. The only things that remain the same are the soothing sea, the tropical sun, and the trade winds.

C'est magnifique!

Woman's Club Talk On Freighter Travel

Travel without set schedules while seeing far-away places of the world, is the theme of "Let's Take a Freighter" to be described by Dorothy Silvera for the Carmel Woman's Club on Monday at 2 p.m.

An interesting and wonderful way to travel, is this intriguing method, promising delightful surprises, according to Mrs. Silvera. Such questions as, "What does one do all day on a freighter?", "What are the accommodations like?", "What are the people like who choose this unconventional way of travelling?" and "What about food?" are some of the queries answered by this world traveler who, with her husband, has just returned from a six months' trip which took them in late Spring of last year to the Scandinavian countries, then southward to Portugal and Spain, on to the Madeiras, Balearic Islands, and back again at Christmas time by freighter to their home in Southern California.

The Silveras have traveled all over the world by freighter, and their enthusiasm and know-how have influenced many of their friends to follow their pattern. Darrell Silvera is a well known decorator for such pictures as "Cheyenne Autumn" and TV productions of "Hazel" and "Father Knows Best." Dorothy Silvera has been on the editorial staff of several magazines and was a script director for 20th Century Fox and Paramount Pictures. She has also acted on the stage in Hollywood, San Francisco and the Pasadena Playhouse.

At the February 6 meeting, Mrs. Margaret Wilson, Miss Marion Stevens and Mrs. Robert Bannister will act as hostesses. Presiding at the tea tables will be Mrs. David Guyatt, Mrs. Grace Lierly and Miss Effie Theobold.

9. Stories will not be accepted for publication in this contest after February 20, 1967. Closing date of the contest is to be determined and announced by the Carmel Pine Cone, following which the winners will be announced.

Explorers Club Opens Travel Film Series Here On February 17

The Explorers Club of San Francisco has announced its 1967 Explorerama-Carmel series of feature-length, color, travel-adventure films which are narrated in person by world famous explorers. The Friday evening series is presented at Sunset Center auditorium with proceeds used to provide annual science scholarships to young students throughout the country.

Thayer Soule, formerly a Burton Holmes photographer, will appear in person on February 17 at 8:15 p.m. to narrate his prize winning film "Footloose In France" as the opening event of the 1967 season. The film will be shown exactly as it was shown last season for the National Geographic Society in Washington D. C. The Carmel showing will be the exclusive Northern California engagement.

Highlights of the film on France include visits to Paris; Normandy; Mont St. Michel and Brittany; Rouen; the towering ramparts of Carcassonne; Avignon; a gypsy festival at Saintes de la Mer; the Riviera; Cannes; Monaco; Lyon; Alsace; Lorraine; Chamonix-Mont Blanc; and spectacular views of the French Alps. Stereophonic musical backgrounds and sound effects were recorded on-the-spot in France.

Other films and speakers on the series are: "Magnificent Greece" with Dwight Nichols on March 3; "Incomparable Switzerland' with Phil Walker on March 17. (this film includes a breathtaking balloon flight over the Alps); "Bravo

ANNE WASHBURN

Mrs. Anne Dyer Washburn, a resident of Carmel for the past nine years, died Sunday in a local hospital after a brief illness. A native of Springfield, Ohio, she was born on January 14, 1882.

Mrs. Washburn was a member of the National Retired Civil Employes Association and of the Carmel Foundation. She was one of the original tenants of the foundation's Trevvett Court before entering a local convalescent hospital, also was a member of Carmel Mission Basilica.

Mrs. Washburn is survived by a daughter, Mary, wife of Commander Richard Rodrigues (USN ret.) of Monterey; a sister, Sister Mary Norberta, a Sister of Charity in the Good Samaritan Hospital, Dayton, Ohio; three grandchildren; Melody, Dana and Vicki Rodrigues of Monterey.

Requiem mass was celebrated yesterday in the Catholic Chapel, Powers Hall, U. S. Naval Postgraduate School. Burial took place in Cementerio El Encinal. Mission Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

MISS LISLE

Miss Helen Louise Lisle, a resident of Carmel Valley for the past two years, died on Sunday after a period of failing health. A native of Rhode Island, she was born on December 12, 1882.

Miss Lisle was a retired school teacher and is survived by three nieces, Mrs. DeForest Sweeney of Carmel, Mrs. Samuel Heavenrich of Buffalo, New York, and Mrs. Weston Thomas of New York City, New York.

Private services were held on Monday at the Mission Mortuary, followed by inurnment in El Carmelo Cemetery Columbarium.

JOHN ALMOND

John E. Almond, a resident of Carmel for the past several years, died last Friday in Walnut Creek. He is survived by his wife, Nina, of Carmel and three sons, Antony Almond of Los Gatos, Roger Almond of Pacifica and Christopher Almond of Cape Kennedy, Florida.

Mr. Almond was a native of Manchester, England and had also lived in Orinda, California. Memorial services were held on Saturday at the Bayview Chapel in Berkeley with the rector of St. Clement's Episcopal Church, Gordon B. Griffiths, officiating.

Donations may be made in Mr. Almond's memory to the American Cancer Society.

ETTA PAUL

Miss Etta Paul, a resident of Carmel for the past 40 years and well known and loved by the community, died on January 24 in a local nursing home after an extended illness.

A native of Elvaston, Illinois, Miss Paul was born June 22, 1878, and spent her early years on a farm near Bushnell, Illinois. She was a graduate in nursing from Asbury Hospital in Minneapolis and she practiced as a registered nurse for many years. During World War I she worked with the Red Cross, both in this country and in France.

In 1926 Miss Paul along with Miss Louise Kellogg, a fellow nurse since their days of training, moved to Carmel. Together they maintained The Little Cottage of River Winds at Carmelo Street and Fifteenth Avenue from the days when only three houses stood between theirs and the sea.

Miss Paul had been an active member of the Church of the Wayfarer for 40 years, holding the longest living membership. Well known for her lively sense of humor and cheerful spirit, Miss Paul was very active in Carmel affairs and her interest in charitable causes was well known.

In addition to Miss Kellogg, Miss Paul leaves a sister, Mrs. Olive Mudge of Pacific Grove; six nieces and nephews; and 18 grandnieces and grandnephews.

Memorial services were held on January 26 in the Church in the Wayfarer, with Reverend Alexander Bryans officiating. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of funeral arrangements.

Friends wishing to make contributions to the memory of Miss Paul may do so to charities of their choice with the Church of the Wayfarer and the American Leprosy Missions especially recommended.

LILY SELGRATH

Mrs. Lily Percis Selgrath, a resident of Carmel for the past 30 years, died on January 25 in a local nursing home following a long illness.

Mrs. Selgrath, who was born April 18, 1886, in Almaden, was a retired supervisor for the Pacific Telephone Company and was a member of its pioneer employee organization.

With her husband, William Selgrath, she made her home at San Carlos Street and Twelfth Avenue. Mrs. Selgrath leaves, in addition to her husband, two nieces, Mrs. Ena Bulmore and Mrs. Erma Sparks of San Jose; and a nephew, Dudley Bulmore of Carmel.

Funeral services were held on January 27 in the Mission Mortuary, with Reverend David Hill of All Saints' Episcopal Church officiating. Burial took place in the Monterey Cemetery.

ALTAR SOCIETY MEETING

Miss Maire Buehrle, journalist and author, will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Altar Society of Carmel Mission Basilica to be held at Crespi Hall on February 9 at 2 p.m.

Following the meeting, tea will be served by Mrs. Alfred Collins, Mrs. Alvin Ferrera, Miss Genevieve Gehres and Miss Esther Ely.

BACH ARIA GROUP

The Bach Aria Group directed by William H. Scheide is a unique organization which performs arias and duets from the cantatas of Johann Sebastian Bach.

This internationally celebrated ensemble, which has scored one success after another in appearances throughout this country, also in Canada, South America and Europe, will be heard on Saturday in Sunset Center auditorium under the auspices of the Carmel Music Society. The concert begins at 8:30 p.m.

The group is composed of Sam Baron, flute; Robert Bloom, oboe; Norman Farrow, bass-baritone; Maureen Forrester, alto; Bernard Greenhouse, cello; Richard Lewis, tenor; Lois Marshall, soprano; Oscar Shumsky, violin; and Paul Ulanowsky, piano.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

To live peaceably with all men is of possible attainment today if mankind would heed Paul's exhortation of unity to the Ephesians: "There is one body, and one Spirit . . . one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all."

"Spirit," the subject of Sunday's Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches, includes the Christian Science definition of Spirit found in Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy: "SPIRIT. Divine substance; Mind; divine Principle; all that is good; God; that only which is perfect, everlasting, omnipresent, omnipotent, infinite."

COURT CARMEL MISSION

The Court Carmel Mission No. 1496, Catholic Daughters of America, held a luncheon on January 15 honoring their 18th birthday. Mrs. John Frey of Carmel, Grand Regent of the group, was the hostess.

The court holds a breakfast at the first of each month at the Mission Hall where a gift table sale is conducted. Proceeds are used for the scholarship awarded each year by the court to assist in the support of Madonna Manor, in Salinas, a home for older members.

The group's other activities, have included a donation of clothing by members for the San Carlos Mission in Arizona for the Apache Indians and a dinner for U. S. O. Forces, also contributions of many Christmas gifts for the patients in the county hospital.

OES BROTHER'S NIGHT

The Carmel Chapter of the Eastern Star will hold Brother's Night this Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Cypress Club in Carmel. All members are invited to attend this meeting which the men will host.

Portugal" with Lisa Chickering and Jeanne Porterfield on March 31 has been acclaimed as the finest travel film of the last 20 years. Clay Francisco will present his new film, "The New Russia" on April 15, as the final event of the series. His is a 10,000 mile journey through the Soviet Union highlighted by the Georgian State Dance company and the USA-USSR Track Meet.

All of the one and a half hour films on the series are in color with musical backgrounds and in-person narration.

Season tickets at $6.00 for five films and single program tickets at $1.75 are now available at Central Box Office, (624-6739).

MONTEREY PINES MEETING

The Monterey Pines Golf Club will hold its regular meeting on Wednesday, February 8, at the Elks Club in Monterey at 8 p.m. All members are asked to attend this important meeting.

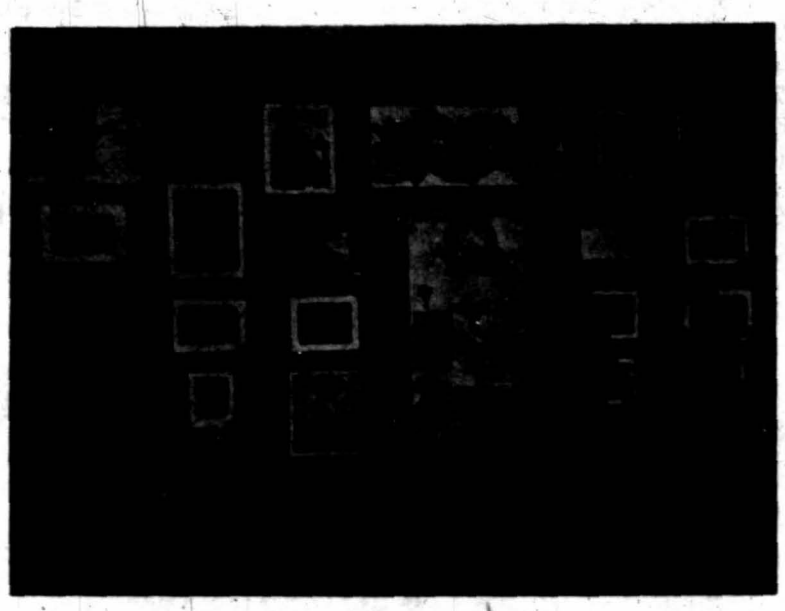
RELIGIOUS ART SHOW

Louisa Jenkins stands beside her collage, entitled "Time," which won one of the six $100 prizes in the fourth annual Religious Art Show on exhibition at the United States Naval Postgraduate School through February 12.



A feature of the Religious Art Show is the section devoted to the art work of children. Above guests at the invitational preview on Sunday admire the children's paintings exhibited in the USNPG ballroom.

"Entry Into Jerusalem" is the name of the picture entered in the Religious Art Show by Philip C. Smith photographed beside his painting.

CARMEL MUSEUM OF ART

Kent L. Seavey is discussing plans for the Carmel Museum of Art with Mrs. Betty Hoag who was recently appointed director of research on his staff. Mrs. Hoag now lives in Carmel. She graduated with a B.A. from Stanford University and has received her M.A. degree from the University of California. Her thesis was about Jules Tavernier and the original art colony in Monterey. Now she is writing a book about this.

Rotary Club Seeks Local Applicants For Fellowships

The Carmel Rotary Club is seeking suitable students from Carmel and Carmel Valley to recommend for Rotary Foundation Fellowships which cover expense for a full academic year abroad. The fellowships have been established to promote international understanding and broadening the outlook of American students. Nearly 3,000 Rotary Fellows have been able to obtain advanced degrees during the period of their study abroad, and many are able to use specialized collections and libraries of particular significance to their related fields of study. They are assisted by the Rotary Clubs in the cities they visit and enjoy many cultural advantages. A Rotary Fellow studying music in Vienna, Austria, reported that he attended more than 100 musical presentations during his residence there.

Applicants for Rotary Fellowships must be college graduates, fluent in the language of the country in which they wish to study. They may make application for a fellowship during the spring term of their junior year in college, or thereafter, even after graduation. Interested students should send preliminary information to Ferris C. Burleson, M.D., chairman of the Rotary Foundation Committee, P. O. Box 950, Carmel.

STAMP CLUB MEETS MONDAY NIGHT

The Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club will meet Monday in the faculty room of Carmel High School at 8 p.m.

The speaker will be the club's treasurer, Fred Starr, whose topic will be "Cover Collecting." William Coats is the president of the group. Vice-presidents are Colonel Charles Campbell and Alice Harwood. The secretary is Winifred Howe.

The club, which holds its meetings the first Monday of every month, invites all those interested in stamps to attend.

ROTARY CLUB SPEAKERS

On January 25, the Carmel Rotary Club held what was described as a "midyear inventory." Reports were given by August Johnson on club services; Tom White, vocational services; Toland Doud, trade and professional relations; and Tom Brown, international service.

This week the Rotary Club heard a talk given by Philip Nash on "Trends in Data Processing" and on February 8, Jack Blakemore, a member of the Monterey Peninsula College faculty, will speak on the subject "Why Your Child May Not Go To College."

Art News . . .

The Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association, with pride and deep appreciation to Mrs. Diana Hill, daughter of the late Leonard G. Heller, past MPMAA president and founder, announces a showing of his personal collection of paintings and sculpture through February 11.

The show of the works, which Mr. Heller chose for his Carmel home, opened yesterday. He had the uncanny gift of a true collector and from the outstanding work of each artist represented, selected material to build an unusual and exquisite group of contemporary paintings and sculpture. Each work occupied a special place in Leonard Heller's relationship with the world of art. He was a devoted student of painting and one of the first persons to recognize the need for a permanent art museum on the Monterey Peninsula.

Six artists won $100 awards for work entered in the fourth annual Religious Art Show now on exhibition in the Naval Postgraduate School ballroom. They are Mike Andersen, Loren Christensen, Louisa Jenkins, William Minshew, Fred Todd and Everett Turner.

Honorable mentions were given work by Richard M. Bennett, Vivi Blanquie, Ellwood Graham and Hildegard Kress.

Judges were Ninfa Valvo, former painting curator at the de Young Museum in San Francisco; Gurdon Woods, sculptor and artist-in-residence at the University of California, Santa Cruz; and Donald Weygandt, painter and member of the San Francisco Art Institute faculty.

The show, sponsored by the NPGS Roman Catholic Chapel Guild, will be open through February 12 from noon until 9 p.m. daily.

An invitational preview of the Carmel Art Association one-man show of paintings and sculpture by Traylor Dunwoody will be held tomorrow. The exhibition will be displayed during February in the association's Beardsley Room. Dunwoody has exhibited in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Stockton, San Juan Bautista, Oakland, Marin County and on the Monterey Peninsula. He is a member of the board of directors of the Carmel Art Association, also a member of the Los Angeles Art Association.

A large photography show, featuring the "best work" of three photography classes instructed by Al Weber at Monterey Peninsula College, opened at MPC Monday and will remain hanging throughout the month of February.

The show includes 90 black-and-white and color prints gleaned from some 300 submitted by Weber's elementary, advanced and individual study classes. Off-campus visitors may see the show from 8 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday; 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Fridays; except when the lecture hall is in use for classes or meetings.

RESOLUTION NO. 2397
A RESOLUTION OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA DECLARING ITS INTENTION TO CALL A SPECIAL ANNEXATION ELECTION AND FIXING THE TIME AND PLACE FOR PROTESTS BY PROPERTY OWNERS.

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA DOES RESOLVE as follows:

1. That it is the intention of the City Council of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea to call a special election to be held in certain inhabited territory contiguous to said City, proposed to be annexed thereto, for the purpose of submitting to the qualified electors residing in said territory the question whether or not said territory shall be annexed to the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, and the property in said territory subjected to taxation after annexation equally with property within said City to pay the bonded indebtedness of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea outstanding or authorized, at the date of the first publication of the notice of election, for the acquisition, construction or completion of municipal improvements. Said territory is described as shown on Exhibit "A" attached hereto.

2. That said territory is hereby designated and identified as "Mission Tract II".

3. That notice is hereby given that on the 8th day of February, 1967, at the hour of 8:00 p.m., or as soon thereafter as feasible, in the Council Chamber of the City Hall of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, any person owning real property within said territory so proposed to be annexed and having any objection to the proposed annexation may appear before said City Council and show cause why such territory should not be annexed. Such protests must be in writing and shall state the name or names of the owner or owners of the property affected by such annexation and the location and area of such property in general terms. If it is found that protest is not made by public and private owners equal to one-half of the value of the territory, further proceedings shall be taken in accordance with the law for the holding of such special election.

4. That the City Clerk shall certify to the adoption of this resolution and cause the same to be published in the Carmel Pine Cone once a week for the two weeks prior to the hearing.

CERTIFICATION OF CITY CLERK

I, HUGH BAYLESS, the undersigned, City Clerk of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, California, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of Resolution No. 2397, which was read and adopted at a Regular Meeting of the said City Council on the 4th day of January, 1967.

I further certify that upon its passage the foregoing Resolution was signed by the Mayor of said City and attested by the City Clerk thereof.

DATED this 24th day of January, 1967.

HUGH BAYLESS - City Clerk

UC Tuition Ups Cost To Nation's Highest

Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh on January 12 released figures demonstrating that a $400 tuition charge would make the University of California the most expensive major state university for students in the nation.

"A tuition of $400, added to the present student fees of $243, produces total charges to the student of $643," Unruh said. "This places us well ahead of the State University of New York which charges $500, currently the highest charge of any major state university.

Unruh has suggested that any tuition proposal be postponed until the Joint Committee on Higher Education, which he chairs, has an opportunity to study the problem and report to the Legislature in 1969.

"Tuition charged solely for the purpose of making up a budget cut must be considered a tax on education," Unruh said. "Such a proposal demands the most thorough study we can make before it is enacted."

One of the proposals under committee consideration, Unruh said, was a plan to finance the junior colleges entirely through state funds.

"This would provide us with a measure of the property tax relief so urgently needed in California," Unruh said.

Every Day Is Sunday...

The word "amateur" is derived from the Latin "amator"—one who loves. Ask any painter whether he loves his hobby and you'll have convincing proof that Latin is a living language. The fact is, more and more Americans are falling in love with painting—and devoting not only Sundays, but every spare moment they can steal, to this all-absorbing hobby.

Whether gone into for pleasure, relaxation, mental stimulation or psychological therapy, amateur painting today attracts enough people to populate a city the size of New York. It appeals to people in all walks of life, all ages, all persuasions. The butcher down the street, as well as Henry Fonda, can and often does turn out "professional looking" canvases. And as far as age and training go—there are just no limits. Henri Rousseau, who spent most of his time as a poor customs collector, didn't start painting until after he'd retired and, knowing none of the rules of painting, he broke them all with success!

Another famous amateur, who started painting at the age of 78 because her fingers were too crippled to hold embroidery needles, was Grandma Moses. But the joy of painting does not belong to the amateur turned professional alone. The desire to express beauty is innate in all of us and the satisfaction that creating a picture brings to an amateur is likely to lead him to devote other spare moments of his time to the Muse—as well as his Sundays. Aside from the sense of pride painting can bring, amateurs find that it also opens their eyes to the world as they never saw it before, and provides them with many hours of enjoyable relaxation, with a complete absorption that banishes care and actually seems to stop time.

Painting is also the hobby that "knits the raveled sleeve of care." Psychologists note that many people who lead busy and active lives find relaxation in painting. For painting helps them find a refuge from their hectic life—and as soon as they pick up a brush they're transposed to another world. Among some of the well known people who find a haven behind the easel are writers Fannie Hurst and Frederick Lewis Allen; television personalities Jack Paar, Arlene Francis, Alfred Hitchcock, Dick Van Dyke and Ben Grauer; comics Bill Dana,

Phyllis Diller and Jonathan Winters. The list is endless, ranging from royalty (Princess Wilhelmina) to riches (Mrs. Vincent Astor), from sports (Joe Louis) to song (Dinah Shore), from hilarity (the late Harpo Marx) to humanity (the late Margaret Sanger).

What's best about painting is that anyone can do it and have fun at it. And money is not the object. The amateur painter paints for his own enjoyment rather than profit. Many are so enamoured of their own works that they wouldn't even consider selling them.

And one homemade painting as a gift can express your feelings better than 1,000 store-bought presents. Whether it's painting that brings back a memory—like a summer at the seashore—or a portrait of the receiver himself, a painting shows the affections of the giver in a lasting way.

Painting is a perfect hobby for these and other reasons; it doesn't involve money, space or inconvenience. A beginner can purchase all the supplies he needs for under ten dollars. Any corner in the house will do for the easel. And with the new Hyplar polymer paints, there need be absolutely no inconvenience to other family members.

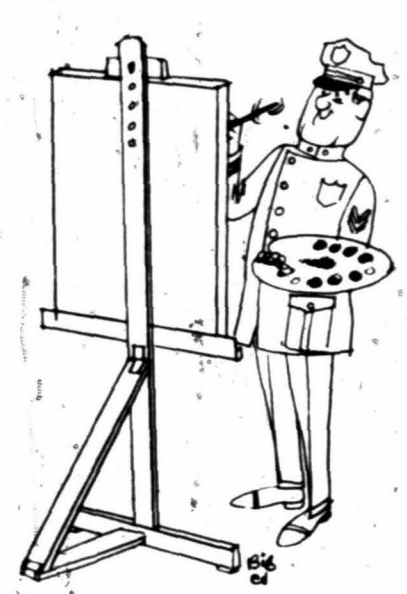
It used to be that Sunday painters could indulge in their hobby only at the discomfort of others. Whatever makeshift place they used as a "studio" deprived room from others in the house, and the clutters and odors of oil and turpentine could annoy an entire family. Moreover, spilled paints or linseed oil could ruin a carpet in a moment of over-creativity; in short, there were many who thought painting should remain strictly in the art gallery.

Since the introduction of plastic paints, however, all this has changed. A drop of paint on the rug can be wiped right up; colors can be stored compactly, and the Hyplar line is virtually odorless.

But best of all are the advantages the Hyplar polymer paints bring to the painter himself. This one line enables the painter to simulate oil and water color paintings, build up to impasto (heavy textured applications), or thin down to aquarelle (color applied in thin transparent washes). Hyplar's ideal for outdoor painting because, unlike oil colors, it dries in a matter of minutes.

Why would you benefit by taking up painting as a hobby? Maybe for the same reason as heiress Verna Hull — "psychological therapy." Maybe for the same reason as composer Deems Taylor—"for my own amazement." Maybe for the same reason as executive vice-president of the Hooker Electro-Chemical Co., Bjarne Klaussen—"to escape boredom." Or maybe your reason is the same as the man's who said, "Painting is a friend who makes no undue demands, excites to no exhausting pursuits, keeps faithful pace even with feeble steps, and holds her canvas as a screen between us and the envious eyes of Time or the surly advance of Decrepitude."

And that man was Winston Churchill.



Public Hearing On Pinnacles Monument

The Western Regional Office of the National Park Service announces a hearing on the proposed wilderness area, also the roadless area, for Pinnacles National Monument. This public hearing will be on February 10 at 9 a.m. in the Supervisors' Chambers, Monterey County Courthouse, Salinas.

The purpose of the hearing is to receive comments and suggestions from the public on the official establishment of a wilderness area of 3,720 acres and a roadless area of 12,280 acres.

A packet, containing a map of the preliminary boundaries of the two proposed areas, also additional information, may be obtained by writing: Superintendent, Pinnacles National Monument, Paicines, California 95043.

Any person unable to attend the hearing is asked to write the superintendent at the above address giving comments and suggestions.

FOLK MUSIC FESTIVAL

Sponsored by the Baha'i community of Carmel, a folk music festival will be held on February 11 at 8 p.m. in Sunset Center auditorium. The public is invited to attend, free of charge, the program honoring "the Oneness of Mankind."

SOCIAL SECURITY OFFICE CHECKS MEDICARE CLAIMS

Older people in the Carmel area who have paid doctor bills but have not yet claimed their medicare doctor bill insurance payments are invited to have their claims checked by the Salinas social security office before mailing them to the medicare carrier, according to Oscar L. Donaldson, Jr., district manager.

The Salinas social security office is located at 65 San Miguel Avenue. The phone number is 373-2349. There is an office in Monterey at 740 Lighthouse Avenue. The phone number is 373-4148.

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

Peter Padfield wrote THE TITANIC AND THE CALIFORNIAN in a continued mood of white hot anger. He began by doing research for a book on sea disasters and started his research with the sinking of the Titanic. He became so incensed over the hearings after the disaster and the blame which was placed upon Captain Lord of the ship Californian, that he went on to write an entire book on the subject. Mr. Padfield writes well, and is at home in a nautical atmosphere because he was a sailor for a number of years. Dry land types may need to consult the glossary of nautical terms at the back of the book but sailors will have no difficulty at all.

A book which tells all about the Irish is by Tony Gray and is entitled THE IRISH ANSWER. Beginning with the creation of the Irish Republic and going on to discuss the Irish today and what makes them the way they are, this book is a complete handling of the subject. The author is an Irishman who now lives in England and makes his living by writing.

THE DEFENSES OF FREEDOM is the title chosen for the collection of the public papers of Arthur Goldberg which covers the time he has spent as our Ambassador to the United Nations. Mr. Goldberg was the second man in the history of our country who left the Supreme Court bench to serve in another capacity at the request of the President. These papers were edited by Daniel Moynihan. They are not easy reading.

A collection of poetry and prose translated from classical sources by a wide variety of scholars has been edited as a book by Garry Wills of Johns Hopkins University. It is part of a series being published under the general title The Cultures of Mankind, and this volume bears the title ROMAN CULTURE. The contents have been gathered under several broad headings such as Ages of Man, The Lure of the East, and Love's Crucible. Unfortunately there is no index, but the headings all through the book are plain and searching for information here will bring you pleasure as you hunt. At income tax time you may be comforted by a poem of Martial in Epigrams, translated by Thomas Steele. The happy thing goes thus:

You don't owe a cent, not a cent,
Sestus,
we say,
(For he owes who is able,
Sestus,
to pay).

Once again let me call your attention to MADAME SARAH by Cornelia Otis Skinner. The Divine Sarah comes alive in these pages through the urbane handling of Miss Skinner who did tremendous research before starting her book and who had the great advantage of personally knowing friends and observers of the subject. Never one to be misled by tantrums or fainting fits, Miss Skinner blandly puts Sarah in her place while according her at the same time her rightful position as France's great tragedienne. Theatre buffs may well sigh that they will never see the Divine Sarah as she writhed in her death agony just before the final curtain leaving her audience bathed in tears and clapping her back for half a hundred curtain calls. That was tragedy!

CARE OF LAWNS

When the greens superintendent of a golf course fails to produce healthy grass, he's in trouble. Bent grass in the greens, fescues and blue grass in the tees and fairways must thrive every month of the year or the players get restless and demand his scalp. What better teacher can we have, then, to show us the way to better lawns at home?

This man knows, first of all, that turf should be fed regularly whenever it needs nourishment. He knows that extreme temperatures do not constitute good weather for growing grass. Conditions that are too wet or too dry are also hazardous to turf. Once these factors are established the process is quite simple.

We know that the prime food element for grass is nitrogen, and it must be available in constant supply if the lawn is to maintain its health. As we look over the stock of fertilizers in the nurseries we are faced with the question: "Which one shall I use?" The selection is usually so broad that making the proper choice poses a real problem. So let's ask the golf course greenskeeper. When the soil is cold and his greens stop growing, this man applies small amounts of ammonium nitrate, about 5 pounds per 1,000 square feet. Nitrate is readily available and releases as soon as the soil moisture dissolves it. The grass starts growing. So we will insert here the warning that nitrate will burn, if left on the foliage, and is not recommended for warm-weather use. The reason, perhaps, that more home owners know little about ammonium nitrate is because the average garden supplier does not stock it, in fact usually can't get it in a size smaller than 80 pounds.

In watching a golf course program, we also note that steer manure is never used on the grass. Many a homeowner, on the other hand, is prone to spread considerable quantities of manure on his lawn without actually knowing why he's doing it. To begin with, most of the "steer" manure packaged for sale in California has its origin in Los Angeles County dairy farms. So, in reality, it's cow manure and contains only a small percentage of nitrogen. Recent tests show that dairy manure from Southern California sources contains a considerable amount of salt in a form that is not conducive to healthy plant life. And, though labelled "weed free" there can be no guarantee that packaged steer manure does not carry weed seeds.

Top-dressing for a golf green, then, consists of ground, composted fir bark. Manure is not used, nor is sawdust. And, most certainly, late winter feedings tend to promote the growth of good grasses to give them a head start over the broad-leaf weeds.

Soils with prosperous stands of clover are usually rich in phosphoric acid. Clover can be discouraged, and eventually eliminated, without the use of an herbicide, by applications of one-half pound of sulphate of ammonia and 2½ pounds of castor bean meal per 100 square feet. This is a fine food for grass and may also serve as a gopher control. If the clover is in bloom, catch the clippings to prevent re-seeding.

The clippings are always caught, when a golf green is mowed, removing considerable amounts of phosphoric acid and potash. This must be replaced during the winter months by the use of a complete fertilizer. The homeowner who lets his clippings fall is obliged to use lesser amounts of phosphorus and potash, but more nitrogen to break his clippings down. Small, but more frequent feedings of nitrogen will be less costly in the long run.

Next week we'll discuss your planting plan.

RETIRED TEACHERS TO MEET AT ASILOMAR

The Monterey Division of the California Retired Teachers' Association will hold its bi-monthly luncheon meeting on February 15, 12:15 p.m., at Asilomar Conference Grounds.

Mary D. Bruchs, Pacific Grove High School graduate, who has been an exchange student in Australia for the past year, will share her experiences and answer questions.

"Opportunities for Service with the Red Cross" will be the topic of the talk by Donald F. Putrino, executive director of Monterey County Chapter of the American Red Cross. Mrs. George D. Putnam, chairman of volunteers, will conduct a question-and-answer period.

Named to head the annual drive for members and funds for the Carmel-by-the-Sea chapter of the American Red Cross is Francis P. (Skip) Lloyd, right, who is assigning his volunteer workers to their areas as marked on the master map. Dale Junta, left, also a Red Cross director, is the newest member of the board. Both men are attorneys in Carmel. The quota for the Carmel chapter for 1967 is set at $29,506. The campaign will open officially March 1.

Outstanding Growth In County's Banking UCB Report Indicates

The banking industry registered outstanding growth in Monterey County during the period from 1950 to 1966, according to a study just completed by United California Bank's economic research and planning department.

Results of the study, released by Donald R. Nelson, manager of UCB's Carmel office, show the increasingly important role of the banking industry in the economic growth of Monterey County.

Bank deposits increased by 180 percent in Monterey County during the period from 1950 to 1966—from $126 million to $353 million, according to the study. Relating population growth to deposits, a one percent increase in the county's population has been accompanied by a 2.6 per cent rise in total deposits, the study continues.

The overwhelming importance of bank deposits in the country's money supply is evidenced by the fact that they form more than 75 per cent of all money used by the various sectors of the economy to purchase goods and services, Nelson said.

In addition, bank deposits constitute the basis for the creation of money by the banking system through the extension of loans. The California banking industry is contributing immensely to the health and growth of the state through $25 billion in outstanding loans, he added.

The study points out that during 1965 the California banking industry assisted agricultural business by extending $100 in credit to farmers for every $300 in crop and livestock sales.

In the construction sector of the state's economy, the banking industry loaned $100 for every $275 in new construction valuation during 1965. Total commercial and industrial loans in the state amounted to about $100 for every $320 of general retail purchases and $100 for every $160 in new or used car sales.

In terms of keeping pace with population growth, Monterey County has performed considerably better than California as a whole, the study shows. There is now one banking office for every 5,850 persons in the county as compared with one for every 7,275 in the state. Since 1950, the number of banking offices in Monterey County has risen more than 72 per cent, from 22 in 1950 to 38 offices at present.

AN AIR OF ELEGANCE AND GRACE

And a Ravishing View of the Valley Hills. Here is something rare: a not-too-big home with a gracious, 30-foot living room, lofted ceiling, polished plank floors to show off your rugs to best advantage, a most attractively designed fireplace—bookcase wall. Hospitable entry hall, main bedroom with the panoramic view; den or second bedroom has a sunny, deep-silled window. The kitchen includes a pleasant breakfast area, quarry tile counter tops, and has a very homey feeling. Two very nice baths. Bedroom and hall areas are carpeted. Separate dining room.

The double garage is finished inside also, has electric door, and is as immaculate as the house itself. The low, country-provincial architectural styling is enhanced by the shake roof, a little manicured patch of lawn, a charming low white fence. A formal terrace on the living room side and a tiny, very private sun spot for your personal pleasure on the South.

Much attention has been given to little details by the very meticulous owner. Especially if you are tired of looking at run-down houses and properties to "fix up", treat yourself to a visit to a home whose owner cares enough to keep it at its very best. The price is $57,500, and well worth it. Located in a beautiful area of Hatton Fields.

Citizens Committee Airs Some Problems Of Carmel At Meeting

At their annual town meeting, over 100 members of the Carmel Citizens Committee were urged on Tuesday night by Mayor Stephen Grant to frame 1967 achievement goals for the city and present these aims to the city council, also attend council and commission meetings, and public hearings, so that their desires may be known to city bodies.

"Where there is hope, the people will survive," emphasized the Mayor in encouraging his audience to help "the city family" in preserving the beauty and charm of Carmel by expressing their thoughts on matters of public interest.

The Mayor was thanked by Rear-Admiral C. W. Fisher (USN ret.), president of the citizens committee, who chided members for not being "good citizens" in respect to paying attention to the city's government and its working.

Admiral Fisher, in his presidential report to the committee stressed the need for attention to be given to building within the city limits.

"If Carmel is ever modernized, Carmel is ruined," he said after referring to Fourth and Junipero, Dolores and Fifth and Wells Fargo construction.

Questions pertinent to keeping Carmel as citizens want it, he said, were: How many people do you think ought to live in Carmel? Do we want more businesses in Carmel? Do we want to keep property taxes down and, if so, how? Admiral Fisher asked all members of the committee to ponder these queries.

He then opened discussion on another question: Who Should Pay for Additional Customer Parking?

Vice President Moser pointed out the city provides a total of 1,000 parking spaces either on or off the streets; the business community contributes 28 percent of the city's income, from sale of goods amounting to $22-23 million; the property owners 32 percent of city revenue from property taxes. His opinion was that the business people should pay more for parking.

Councilman Gunnar Norberg stated parking was not one of the greater problems of the city. "If Carmel buys or creates parking, in totality the property owners will be paying for it," he indicated.

Other comments were: "No sense in spending money for parking lots"—Miss Ethelinda James; "Use parking at Sunset Center"—Stanley Oakes; "The new policewoman moves me out of parking spaces faster"—Mrs. Douglas Macgregor; "The bus provides a social time going up town; it's a wonderful walk back"—Mrs. Charles A. Trumbly.

Members next considered another question: Should Transient Lodging be Eliminated from Purely Residential Areas?

Admiral Fisher prefaced discussion on this subject by saying three points deserved consideration. First was the plight of the elderly lady with limited means who augments her income by renting rooms as present city law allows. Any change in the law, as contemplated by the city council, in this respect, was not human, he said.

Secondly, Admiral Fisher observed consideration was due anyone who purchased a house and lot in Carmel and a short time afterwards found a definitely commercial transient rental lodging opening across the street or nearby. "A breach of faith—outrageous," was Admiral Fisher's terminology for such a situation.

Thirdly, he was of the opinion that if Carmel has a law controlling transient lodging in the residential zone it should be of a nature to be enforced, also be enforced.

City Planning Director John J. Riling Jr., announced that he had prepared information on the need for changing Ordinance 60 which, since 1925, has governed transient rentals in the residence zone, also pertinent parts of the existing law, and a constructive questionnaire on the transient lodging situation for distribution to all persons attending the meeting. By answering the questionnaire, members of the citizens committee would help Councilmen Eben Whittlesey and Herbert Blanks in framing controls of transient lodging abuses, he declared. It was agreed that the questionnaires would be returned to Admiral Fisher, then forwarded to Blanks and Whittlesey.

Lastly, those at the town meeting considered: If the Proposed Override Tax Is Defeated, Will Our Children's Education Suffer?

Admiral Fisher pointed out that the five-year 37-cent override, which voters are asked to approve on March 7, will be added to an existing 50 cent override for the same period.

"The property tax as a base for raising school funds has been milked dry," he remarked.

Dr. Harris Taylor, superintendent of the Carmel Unified School District, was invited to comment on the need of the override. He stressed that economies this year in CUSD spending had resulted in the elimination of eight teachers, thus raising the 1-25 pupil-teacher ratio above what has been traditionally desirable in local schools. He informed those present that 60 percent of a school district's income must be devoted to teacher's salaries and that many of the Carmel teachers have been with th district many years and are at the top of the salary scale, a factor in the CUSD cost per pupil being higher than the state average.

Taylor also stressed the 594 square mile area of the district which means pupils must be transported long distances, thus raising CUSD costs. A court case had resulted in the district being ordered to provide such school bus transportation, he added.

The 37 cent override is needed to provide $80,000 a year for five years to bring all buildings to a maintainable level. A survey of every room in every building has been made and precise cost estimates prepared for work to be done in each area during the next five years, Dr. Taylor stated.

Innkeepers Association Asks City To Keep Residence Zone Hostelries

Members of the Carmel-by-the-Sea Innkeepers Association unanimously passed a resolution at their meeting on January 30 recommending to the city council, planning commission and planning director that hostelries of seven members be authorized to continue operations permanently in the residence zone in the same manner in which they are now operating. This action was taken in respect to a contemplated city ordinance which will eliminate transient lodging premises in the residence zone at the end of a 20-year amortization period, or sooner if lodging premises change ownership.

The seven premises recommended for exemption are those owned by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Catalan, Willard Neumann, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Seigrist, Mr. and Mrs. Ashton Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Van Sickle and Mr. and Mrs. John Zack.

The innkeepers' resolution points out that their association is composed of owners of 44 motels, hotels and inns situated within the city limits. These hostelries have a total of 948 registered units that will accommodate 1,900 transient visitors daily. Revenue to the city from the four percent hostelry tax imposed on all overnight accommodations in the 44 hostelries amounts to $600 daily the resolution further indicates. In addition, rental of the total 948 units means a daily contribution of $15,000, or $3,300,000 yearly gross, to the economy of the city, the resolution stated.

Emphasized was the fact that the seven hostelries which concern the inkeepers' association have been in existence for many years and have been collecting the city's hostlry tax since its inception.

LEORA GEISEN

Mrs. Leora Bennett Geisen, a resident of Carmel since 1922, died last night after a period of failing health. She was born in Denver, Colorado, and lived in San Francisco for several years before coming to Carmel.

Bicycle Rodeo At Sunset Saturday

Carmel's annual Bicycle Rodeo will be held on Saturday on the north playfield at Sunset Center starting at 9 a.m. However, if it is raining on Saturday, the event will be postponed until February 11, Charles Dawson, director of recreation for the Carmel Unified School District announces.

The school district, the Carmel Police Department and the Carmel Kiwanis Club are sponsoring the event which includes races and contests. All bicycles will be given a safety inspection. The entry fee for the rodeo will be 25 cents. This sum will include the 1967 bicycle license for competitors.

Races and contests will test ability of boy and girl riders in mounting bicycles, balancing, maneuvering, pedalling, braking, signalling and stopping. Knowledge of traffic rules will be stressed.

Rowe Hands Gavel To New Chamber Head

James Rowe of Carmel, owner of the Village Shoe Tree and the Shoe Box, retired Monday night from the presidency of the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce. He gave his gavel to John Logan of Pebble Beach at the annual installation banquet at Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club. Mr. Logan's business is the Del Monte Laundry in Pacific Grove.

R. B. Gifford was chairman for the occasion and it was his pleasure to announce County Clerk-Recorder Emmet McMenamin as Monterey Peninsula's "Outstanding Citizen of 1966." Entertainment was supplied by Dick O'Kane's musical Warehouse Six Minus Three and singer Barbara Kelley.

The new board of directors is composed of Jack Westland, vice president; Robert Littlefield, treasurer; Thomas Craig, Warren Gipe and Past President James Rowe.

Rotary Club Honors Founder Tom Perry

The past president of the Carmel Rotary Club, Thomas E. Tonkin, this week gave the nominating committee's report to the club. Nominated for directors were Toland Doud, Dick Wilson, Larry Farrell, Al Cook; for treasurer, Arne Halle; for secretary, Tom White; and for president, Tom Brown.

One of the most important items on the agenda was the resolution making Thomas K. Perry honorary secretary of the club. This post was created for Perry because of his being a founder and first secretary of the Carmel Rotary Club, as well as a past president of the group. It was directed that a suitable permanent plaque be obtained and presented to Perry for his unique efforts on behalf of the club.
